

DISCLAIMERS: If you choose to view this website, you are agreeing to these conditions.

No health care service, psychotherapy, or professional counseling of any kind is offered via this website. Information on the site should not be used in place of a call, visit or consultation with, or the advice of, a licensed healthcare or mental health professional. Please call or see a licensed healthcare or mental health professional for any healthcare-related questions or advice.

I cannot be responsible for any harm caused by your reliance on, or any use made of, information that I provide to you on the site. You must be 18 to use this website.

If you are experiencing an emergency, you should go to a hospital emergency room. If you cannot go to a hospital emergency room, you should call 911 for emergency help.

REGARDING THE LINKS ON THE WEBSITE: The hypertext links or pointers to websites outside of this website are displayed for your convenience and go to information created and maintained by other public and private organizations. We neither control nor guarantee the accuracy, relevance, timeliness, or completeness of this outside information. Further, the inclusion of links or pointers to particular items in hypertext is not intended to reflect their importance, nor is it intended to endorse any views expressed, or products or services offered, on these outside sites, or the organizations sponsoring the sites.

REGARDING EMAIL TO ME: You may email me for further information about the professional services I offer in my office. If you choose to email me please understand that (1) Your email communications are not encrypted, (2) I cannot guarantee the security of email transmissions, (3) It is inadvisable to send me sensitive or private information by email, rather I suggest you use an alternative and more secure mean such as telephone call, (4) No evaluation or treatment is or will be offered by internet communication, (5) I accept but cannot assure you whether or when I will respond to email communications, and (6) If I do respond, there may be a delay, so do not use email for any urgent matters.